METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS.

1921.

Meridian of longitude adopted for calculation of time adopted as standard in the Colony...0 (G.M.T.)

Conspicuous occurrences of the weather of 1921 were—the wet February no less than 15 in. of rain being registered, the gales of that month, and the deficiency of rainfall during seven months of the year (although the total fall for 1921 has only once been exceeded since 1910). Another notable event was the hurricane of the night of the 30th November to 1st December when, at 02'00 hr., the force of the wind was 80 m.p.h., and the accompanying heavy rain.

Thunderstorms were recorded in every month of the year but four.

Fog.—The fogs experienced during the year were mostly of a local character and none of them conspicuously widespread.

Temperature.—Except for the months of May, October and November all the mean monthly temperatures were slightly below normal. The mean annual temperature was 0'3° F. below normal. The months of October, November and December were notable for the brilliance and abnormal mildness which prevailed during the greater part of those months.
